Lucius Weston
Weymouth

If you want any black velvet there is a great collar up stairs in that travelling box in the back chamber Boston Jan 12. 1839 a broad binding of velvet - round ^{around} the collar, or perhaps a velvet-collar you might make of it. written Saturday, but was occupied every moment. I sent the pattern of my cape, yoke & collar. Mine is making larger, that is cape & collar. You might have your cape a little larger ^{than the pattern}, but not a great deal. I should think the pattern would be just-right for Emma - Aline invites you to come to Roxbury with her during the annual meeting so perhaps you would like to have your book done then, can you? Sally Reed would be the best person with these patterns. get her a day. Sent in to-morrow my black silk gown which I ripped to pieces - sleeve linings & all. - be sure sent it to-morrow - I am going to have it out to-morrow - Can one of you lend me 1 dollar to be repaid faithfully. Will you send in for me Wednesday, if you cannot I will come in the stage - Wednesday The jug is expected in the Westminster every day
